

Inspirage Recipe Management

Develop, understand, control and launch your formulated products.

The food, beverage, vitamin and other formulated packaged goods industries are seeing a rise in legislative requirements related to the management of nutrition, food safety and product supply chains. This drives a requirement for a deep and continuous management of these products in a holistic way.

The Inspirage Recipe Management Solution is built on Oracle PLM Cloud and is extended by incorporating industry knowledge to deliver an enterprise scale solution to manage, understand and control this critical product data.

Intelligent Recipe Management

Build ingredient definitions and quantities and then automatically run calculations to determine the effect on the finished product. Understand the nutrition, vitamin, mineral and other rolled up data based on the real-time definition of your products.

Product Compliance to Standards

Define and compare products to industry, regulatory or company standards to ensure compliance and make accurate product claims for every product in every market.

Contextual Change Management

Analyze the impact of change to individual ingredient definitions across the entire product portfolio. Redefine an existing recipe with different quantities or new ingredients and perform a what-if analysis on nutrition and compliance to standards before making the change.

Inspirage Recipe Management helps customers leverage their PLM investment to intelligently automate the development and control of critical formulated product data.
